

Boro Committee Asks President's Mother to Fete

Mrs. Ingersoll, Mrs. Good, Surrogate Wingate to Tender Formal Request

Surrogate George Albert Wingate, chairman of the Brooklyn Birthday Ball for the President, said today that a delegation consisting of Mrs. Raymond V. Ingersoll, wife of the Borough President of Brooklyn; Mrs. William H. Good, and Surrogate Wingate next Wednesday will wait upon Mrs. James Roosevelt at the Roosevelt town house in Manhattan to extend a formal invitation to the President's mother to attend the Brooklyn Ball, to be held at the Hotel St. George, Wednesday evening, Jan. 30.

In addition to this preliminary list of boxholders, it is announced that a box has been reserved for Maj. Gen. Lucius R. Holbrook, U. S. A., and members of the staff of his command at Fort Hamilton, as well as for Rear Admiral Yates Stirling Jr., U. S. N., commandant at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and his staff.

Bar Association Discusses Court Reform Offers

Members Favor Proposal for Five-Sixths Verdicts of Civil Juries

Proposals for court reform were considered last night by the Brooklyn Bar Association, meeting at 123 Remsen St., when members favored five-sixths verdicts of civil juries, limiting the right of trial by jury and repeal of many jury exemptions. They disapproved of abrogating general right to appeal and impeachment of counsel's own witness.

Although several members pointed out that one juror can deadlock the box whether 10 or 12 votes are needed, the proposal passed by a vote of 34 to 16.

See Abolition as Drastic. The right of trial by jury in minor civil cases was proposed to be "limited or abolished" in the recommendations of the association's committee on co-ordination. Abolition seemed too drastic, however, to many members who found jury trials colorful. The majority favored limitation.

Only the learned professions and those physically unfit to qualify would be exempt from jury service according to a proposal which received hearty indorsement. A clause gives the court power to excuse or postpone jury service where justified.

The right to appeal from all orders in general unless the appeal is allowed was one recommendation that did not find favor.

Closest vote was upon the right to impeach a witness with the reservation that proof of bad reputation must have been offered before the witness was examined. The score was 20 to 19 against this, but many speakers believed there should have been more consideration.

The proposals of the committee, as approved by the membership, will be submitted to the judicial council. Herman S. Zachrach, president, announced that a standing committee of five will be appointed to investigate increases in perjury cases and to report to the trustees. This will entail an amendment to the association's by-laws. It was announced that the annual dinner will be held Feb. 7 at the Hotel St. George.
